

MAYOR TAKES UP FIGHT ON M'CALL

Mr. Low is Exerting All His Power to Prevent the Seating of Tammany Man in Sinking Fund Board.

WANTS PARSONS KEPT IN.

Tammany Men Threaten to Take the Matter into the Court and Seek to Tie Up All Business Pending a Final Decision.

Mayor Low doesn't want to sit at the same board with a full-fledged Tammany man as his associate in the councils of the city's administration. He will oppose the seating of Alderman John T. McCall as a member of the Sinking Fund by reason of the latter's election to the chairmanship of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

The Mayor believes that a trick was played on his representative in the Board, Alderman Herbert Parsons, by which Parsons was deposed from the chairmanship of the Finance Committee by the Tammany members, with whom two Fusion members voted. The Mayor has assured Alderman Parsons that he will do all in his power to prevent the seating of McCall, not only because of his friendship for Parsons, but mainly because of his aversion to having at his elbow the Tammany leader of the Board of Aldermen.

Acting under the advice of the Mayor, Alderman Parsons and the Republican members of the committee have mapped out a plan of procedure. This became apparent when Chairman McCall called a meeting of the committee. Although notice was served on Alderman Parsons, McInnes, Longfellow and James, the Republican members, they refused to attend the meeting, at which reports on appropriations amounting to nearly $300,000 were adopted and later accepted by the full Board. Parsons will fight against the seating of McCall, and precedents in this and other States would have to be examined.

Tammany men say that the courts will be appealed to and a stubborn fight made to seat McCall. Measures will be taken at the same time to prevent the commission from transacting any city business while the courts are passing upon McCall's case.

There are no precedents in this State, they declare, which support the contention of the opposition to McCall, and intimate that the Comptroller's remark indicates that the precedents in States other than New York may be used to carry out the wishes of the Mayor to restore Parsons to the chairmanship of the Finance Committee.

HELEN GOULD'S LATEST GOOD WORK, LYNDBURST CLUB AND BOY MEMBERS.

IRVINGTON-ON-THE-HUDSON, June 5.—Miss Helen M. Gould has undertaken a new charity by forming the Lyndhurst Club, composed of poor boys of Irvington, who are taught wood carving and scroll sawing by a professor of New York, who she hires for that express purpose. The club now occupies the old Robins' Nest, a fine house on the Eastman estate, not far from Lyndhurst, Miss Gould's palatial home.

The club, which is composed of ninety boys, is in charge of Prof. Louis F. Downer, who teaches the larger boys on Mondays and Wednesdays, while the smaller boys receive their lessons on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The classroom contains fine hand wood carver's benches, with all the latest scroll designs, wood carving devices and machinery, and the boys are delighted with the generosity of Miss Gould.

In order that the boys may have a permanent home, Miss Gould is building them a $50,000 club-house on the road leading from Pennybridge to Woody Creek, which will be completed by Aug. 1.

will be built a twenty-story hotel, of the same architecture as the station. Vanderbilt avenue, which belongs to the New York Central, will be closed and the hotel and station will be connected. The hotel, which is designed to be one of the finest in the world, will front on Madison avenue and have entrances on Forty-third and Forty-fourth streets and the station entrance through what is now Vanderbilt avenue.

The preliminary plans for the hotel and station were prepared in the office of Chief Engineer Wilson, but it is understood that a well-known outside architect will be called in to revise them, and that this architect will have charge of the building operations. It is said that either Daniel H. Burnham, of Chicago, or McKim, Mead & White, of New York, will be selected to superintend the construction of the vast improvement.

MAGISTRATES DIFFER ON LAW

Policeman with Prisoner Accused of Violating Smoke Ordinance Has a Hard Time Having the Charge Heard.

ORDERED OUT BY MR. POOL.

Sent to Special Sessions, Where Judge Declines for Lack of Jurisdiction, but at Last Magistrate Hogan Consents to Act.

Policemen of the sanitary squad detailed to look after violators of the smoke ordinance are having their troubles with City Magistrates—especially with that amiable expounder of justice, Magistrate Pool. Policeman Farrell collided with the existing condition today.

Farrell arrested John Bartlett, engineer of the Hoe printing press factory, in Grand street, on a charge of burning soft coal in the factory furnaces, and took his man to Essex Market Court, where Magistrate Pool is sitting. The Magistrate refused to entertain a complaint.

"Get out of here," he said to Farrell. "I have no jurisdiction. Get down to Special Sessions."

Farrell went to Special Sessions and took his prisoner before Justice Wyatt. He was told that the Court had no jurisdiction because Bartlett had not been committed from a police court.

"What shall I do?" asked Farrell. "Magistrate Pool has refused to have anything to do with the case." "I must refuse to advise you," replied Justice Wyatt.

Bartlett was enjoying himself at the discomfort of Farrell and expected to be discharged upon returning to Essex Market. But Farrell tried Magistrate Hogan, in Centre Street Court, who consented to entertain a complaint when he heard of the action of his colleagues. Bartlett was held in $100 bail.

CLARA MORRIS MADE HAPPY BY A COURT.

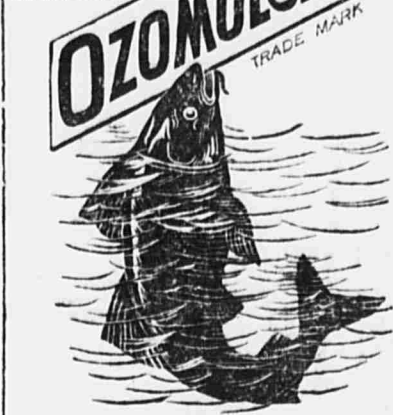

Foreclosure Suit Against the Actress's Home Dismissed and Debt Is Stricken Off.

(Special to The Evening World.) WHITE PLAINS, June 5.—Clara Morris, the actress, has been made happy because of an order of the Supreme Court filed here today discontinuing the suit brought by the Park Mortgage Company to foreclose a mortgage for $3,000 on her Riverdale mansion. The notice of pendency of action against the actress is also ordered stricken off the court records. The funds raised by the benefit entertainment given in the Manhattan was sufficient to pay all of Miss Morris's debts and she is living contentedly at her Riverdale home.

Senator Daniels Renominated. RICHMOND, Va., June 5.—Senator John W. Daniels was today declared the nominee of the Democratic party for the United States Senate. He had no opposition under the party primary law, and the State chairman, J. Taylor Ellison, today declared him the nominee. His name was the only one presented under the law. Senator Daniels is now serving his third term in the Senate.
